Sodney Stone Beats (1 thiabos in Orange Dog Show.

ORANGE, N. J., Feb. 10.—Increased in-serest and a larger attendance marked the serest and a larger attendance marked the second day of the dog show of the New Jersey Kennel Association which is being held in Orange this week. The sensation of the show so far has been the defeat of H. B. Billings's great buildog Chibiabos, by Richard Croker Jr's Ismous Rodney Stone. It was predicted that Chibiabos, who is said to be five pounds heavier than Rodney Stone and who assessed the latter at the recent exhibition in New York, would again be victorious in Orange. C. G. Hopton of Newark, who is managing the show was taken ill late yesterday afternoon and had to be removed to his come in for some criticism because he has dogs on exhibition, as he is one of the managers of the show. Treasurer Archibold said that Mr. Hopton had entered four dogs in the buildog classes and that they had all carried off prizes in the New York show. The bar which the association opened yesterday, and which was later closed by instructions of Police Capt Learr, was still closed to-day, but one of the directors of the show said that it was thought permission would be segured to open it again.

lock turned on his rival with considerable alacrity and before the spectators were aware had Kreig's shoulders pinned to the mat. The time of the fall was f minutes. Kreig was much used up, but recovered after a rest of fifteen minutes. Anderson, however, did not give him any breathing spell. He simply rushed things and getting on top succeeded in throwing Kreig again and won the match. The last fall was accomplished in three minutes.

Two preliminary bouts preceded the stellar event. Carl Muller downed Max Nelson in three minutes. The contest was limited to fifteen minutes at catch-as-catch-can style. John Tompkins, the "Tatoo man," followed, meeting Jack Dillon, the puglist of Harlem. They were to have met for best two falls out of three at catch-se-catch-can. Dillon was no rival for Tompkins, who won two straight falls in 1 minute 45 seconds and 3 minutes respectively.

DISCUSS NATIONAL AGREEMENT. SPEED TRIALS ON SMOOTH SNOW Miner Leaguers Wil inset on Having as Much to Say as Big Leagues.

The question of a new national agreement between the two big baseball leagues and the organized minor leagues was the leading topic yesterday at the meeting of the National Board of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, which is the minor leagues. One thing was apparent from the stand taken by the minor-league men and that was that the one-sided nature of the national agreement that existed for Manager William F. Allen, '02, colleges the Columbia basketball team, anneunces that the games scheduled to be played with Lafayette at Easton, Pa., to-night and with Lehigh at South Bethlehem to-merrow night have been cancelled by Columbia. The reason for this action, it is understeed, is that the Faculty Committee on Athletics objected to the players absenting themselves for two days from their academic work, which would have been necessary had the games been played, since Columbia has saturday recitations. The game scheduled with Syracuse University on Jan. 16 was cancelled for the same reason, although the Columbia team was allowed to go to Ithaca on Jan. 17 to meet Cornell in an intercollegiate league game.

Columbia's next scheduled game is that with Brown at Providence on March 4, but as this game is one of a four days' trip, including contests with the Williston Beminary at East Hampton, Mass., on March 5, the Troy Polytechnic Institute at Troy, N. Y., on March 6, and Williams at Williamstome of these games at least will have to be abandoned. If the faculty permits one game to be played it will probably be that scheduled with Williams, as a game arranged last year with the Williams cam was also cancelled by an edict of the authorities. The only remaining game that Columbia is sure of is the contest with Cornell in the intercollegiate league series, to be played in the gymnasium on Morningside Heights on March 15.

Joe Gans is going to try his hand in the future against the welterweights and has issued a challenge to meet the winner of the Matthews-Couhig contest which is to be decided at Allegheny City, Pa., on Monday night. Gans has a reason, however, for going out of his class. He says: "I might as well do this as remain idle. I have tried my level best to get lightweights to meet me, but they have ignored me. Since I won the lightweight title from Frank Erne I have figured in over twelve contests. Most of my opponents had the advantage in weight, but that made no difference to me; I went ahead and met them. I am the legitimate lightweight champion, and if any one wishes to test my right to the title they can have a match at 133 to 135 pounds. But no one seems to care to give me a fight and that is why I am forced to go out of my division."

The annual meeting of the Athletic Council The annual meeting of the Athletic Council at Columbia University, which governs all undergraduate sport, was held yesterday.
